3. You should have full understanding of the requirements pertaining to Intraday Short Selling before engaging in the same. You should evaluate your own financial position, risk tolerance and investment experiences while taking into account the following risk factors before engaging in Intraday Short Selling.
4. Types of risk:
 - A. Investment risk: You should assess the investment risks arising from the price fluctuation if you choose to engage in Intraday Short Selling. In the event the securities price increases instead of decreases, Intraday Short Selling may lead to extraordinary losses, because you may have to purchase the securities at a very high price in order to cover a short position.
 - B. Trading costs. You should understand the trading costs resulting from frequent trading activities.
 - C. Risk of failure to close off with a buy position on the same day as the short selling:
 - (i) You should assess the securities you will need to purchase to close off the short position before the end of the day, and may need to prepare sufficient funds for settlement in the event of failure of opposite offsetting. The funds include but not limited to the cost of borrowing and the cost to purchase securities above the market price in the event of a buying-in for the settlement of an uncovered position.
 - (ii) It may become difficult for you to buy back the securities to close off a sell position at the end of a trading day. Failure to close off the sell position will be deemed as non-compliance with the Rules and appropriate enforcement action may be taken against you.
5. This brief statement cannot disclose all the risks and other significant aspects of executing Intraday Short Selling. You should carefully study the requirements pertaining to Intraday Short Selling, gain an understanding of other possible affecting factors, and perform a well-thought financial planning and risk evaluation before engaging in this activity.
